Australian pricing announced for 8.9" eeePC Tegatech Australia Resellers can expect larger eeePC in June

For immediate release: Monday, May 19, 2008

Australia's only Ultra Mobile PC (UMPC) and Tablet PC specific Distributor, Tegatech Australia today announced pricing and specifications for the 8.9" eeePC. This version of the low cost mobile PC includes a larger screen and improved battery life.

There will be two models available to channel and both with Linux as the dedicated Operating System. eeePC 900 will ship in Galaxy Black, or Pearl White and now offers the additional benefit of 1GB of RAM and 20GB Flash storage as standard.

The ASUS eeePC is the World's most confident Low Cost Mobile PC on the market with a retail price starting at $499 (GST Inclusive) the device is available in a variety of configurations and colours. Price however is no reflection on quality or features; with onboard camera, card reader and Solid State Disk (SSD) storage the eeePC is designed for school, work and play.

In the last 6 months in particular Tegatech Australia has witnessed considerable growth and demand from Resellers for lower cost machines. "Our announcement last month of the Gigabyte M528 at $999 and the M704 at $1,299 sparked a real fervor through our Reseller database" Said Tegatech Principal Hugo Ortega. "Disappointingly the ASUS eeePC does not have a touchscreen like other devices we stock but at the $499 price we will still sell the eeePC in mass volume no doubt."

Tegatech Australia Resellers have recently enjoyed major successes with the Department of Housing NSW, TAB Corp, Rio Tinto and others. With the eeePC now available at Tegatech it seems as though Resellers interested in the Mobile PC market have nowhere further to look than Tegatech.
