Tegatech Australia announces FREE 1GB upgrade for all eeePC
Resellers given FREE 1GB RAM upgrades on all 7" eeePC bought in May

Tuesday, April 29, 2008

Australia's only Ultra Mobile PC (UMPC) and Tablet PC specific Distributor, Tegatech Australia today announced that all 7" eeePC sold in the month of May 2008 will be shipped with a 1GB of RAM upgrade at no additional cost. The RAM bundle will not affect the Retail configuration but would ship as a separate stick of RAM, i.e. able to be used with the eeePC or any other notebook supporting the same RAM.

The ASUS eeePC is the World's most confident Low Cost Mobile PC on the market with a retail price starting at $499 (GST Inclusive) the device is available in a variety of configurations and colours. Price however is no reflection on quality or features; with onboard camera, card reader and Solid State Disk (SSD) storage the eeePC is designed for school, work and play.

In the last 6 months in particular Tegatech Australia has witnessed considerable growth and demand from Resellers for lower cost machines. "Our announcement last month of the WiBrain at $999 and the Ruvo Avox at $1,199 sparked a real fervor through our Reseller database" Said Tegatech Principal Hugo Ortega. "Disappointingly the ASUS eeePC does not have a touchscreen like other devices we stock but at the $499 price we will still sell the eeePC in mass volume no doubt."

Tegatech Australia Resellers have recently enjoyed major successes with the Department of Housing NSW, TAB Corp, Rio Tinto and others. With the eeePC now available at Tegatech it seems as though Resellers interested in the Mobile PC market have nowhere further to look than Tegatech.
